Allsaw Church offers work day fundraiser

By Angelica Ingram

For the second year in a row, congregation members from Allsaw Church are hoping to come to your home or cottage to paint, clean, garden and much more.

The initiative is part of a fundraiser the church organizes to raise money for their missions team to go to the Dominican Republic, to partake in humanitarian work.

Called Allsaw Missions Work Day, this year it will take place on Saturday, May 7 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (with a lunch break).

The team will come to your house or cottage and spend six hours doing whatever chores you have for them, including gardening, carpentry, cleaning, painting and more. Activities they cannot do include plumbing, electrical work and other skilled trades.

Those interested can have either a team of 11 come work for the day at a cost of $1,000, or a team of five or six individuals (for smaller jobs) for a cost of $500.

All the money is going directly to the trip, as each team member is volunteering their time and skills.

Last year for the inaugural work day two teams split their time between doing work at Eleanor Hall's residence and Marcia Stuckless's home.

Between the two places the team painted a shed, washed windows, did gardening work and put up drywall.

"It was challenging," said team leader Marj Mieske. "It was a challenge for us figuring out how to install the drywall."

Stuckless said the fundraiser was a "good value," as the team put up drywall in her old farmhouse in Ingoldsby.

"They did a good job," said Stuckless. "It was very challenging because my walls are not straight."

She said she would definitely encourage someone to apply for the work, as the team displays a great attitude throughout the day.

“It's the same unity on the work day as when we go down to the Dominican.”

Mieske said Hall was so pleased with the work that she wrote the team a thank-you letter.

Team member David MacLennan said he was particularly inspired by the unity the team shared during the work day, which is similar to the missions trips.

"It's the same unity on the work day as when we go down to the Dominican," he said. "That's what seen wherever we go by people ... we're like a family and people see that and I think it's a great testimony. We have a lot of fun and everybody works well together, there's no division. It's a good time, it's very enjoyable for the team and the people we're doing the work for."

The team has visited the Dominican Republic for the past six years, this November marking their seventh trip down.

While there they do a number of humanitarian tasks and visit churches and schools, blessing the people they meet with food, clothing and treats, such as freezies.

Team member Greg Smith says he enjoys the entire experience, especially visits to a seniors home.

The deadline for applications for the work day is April 9.

Anyone interested is encouraged to submit a proposal to Mieske, with details of the work to be included. Mieske will arrange a time to meet with the selected applicant prior to the work day to go over details, including what supplies will be needed.

Anyone within Haliburton County can apply for the work day. Applicants are responsible for providing all the necessary supplies.

Residents urged to get screened for colon cancer

When it comes to colon cancer, what you don't know can hurt you.

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is reminding local residents – especially men between 55 and 65 years of age – to get screened for colon cancer. The reminder comes during Colon Cancer Awareness Month in March.

While it is recommended that both men and women between the ages of 50 and 74 years of age should be regularly screened for colon cancer, men in their mid-50s to mid-60s are of particular interest. Typically, men in this age range are less likely than women to have ever been screened for colon cancer.

"Colon cancer is a leading cause of cancer death in Ontario for both men and women, but it's also among the most treatable," says Elsie Azevedo Perry, a registered dietitian and chronic disease and injury prevention co-ordinator with the HKPR District Health Unit. "When caught early, colon cancer has a nine in 10 chance of being cured, so that's why screening for the disease is so important."

Colon cancer is cancer of the large intestine (colon), which is the lower part of the digestive system. The disease typically has a slow, silent progression with many patients not exhibiting symptoms until later stages. Without early detection of colon cancer, people miss out on the chance for early, more effective treatment, Azevedo Perry says.

In Ontario, it's easy to get screened for colon cancer with a free take-home test called the Fecal-Occult Blood Test (FOBT). The FOBT is a quick, painless and simple test that checks a person's stool (poop) for blood, which can be caused by colon cancer. An abnormal result does not necessarily mean that a person has colon cancer, but it does mean that additional testing is needed. It is recommended that Ontario residents between the ages of 50 to 74 with no symptoms or family history of colon cancer get screened every two years using the FOBT kit.

Take-home FOBT kits are available from health care providers. People without a health care provider can get an FOBT kit by calling Telehealth Ontario toll-free at 1-866-828-9213 or visiting www.cancercare.on.ca/colon.

People with a family history of colon cancer in a parent, sibling or child are at increased risk for developing the disease. These individuals should get screened with a colonoscopy beginning at age 50, or 10 years earlier than the age at which their family member was diagnosed, whichever occurs first. In these situations, people should speak to health care providers for more information.

Ten sentences you'll never hear

Living Large

Humour by Steve Galea

The other day I listened as someone said, "Now, I've heard everything."

That got me thinking, which is always a dangerous thing to do. In any case, I realized there are a few sentences I've never heard. Here are 10:

1. "I want hair like yours, Mr. Trump!"
2. "I get so excited at tax season."
3. "Turn that rap music up, son!"
4. "As a matter of fact, I do want more tofu!"
5. "Boy, do I love shovelling!"
6. "There's nothing like a good line-up."
7. "Gas prices are low enough!"
8. "Aren't colonoscopies fun?"
9. "I find ear hair sexy!"
10. "I've finally got enough fishing rods!"

Camp Can-Aqua to build wellness centre

Camp Can-Aqua, one of Ontario's premier summer camps, is set to open the amazing new Gyori Health and Wellness Centre, a tribute to Camp Can-Aqua founder Louis Gyori. Currently under construction, the one-of-a-kind health centre will officially open its doors this summer, with a dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony planned for June 25.

The Gyori Health and Wellness Centre will be replacing the current log cabin where Louis Gyori once lived and worked. With a commitment to healthy living, Louis's passion, love and devotion to Camp Can-Aqua will be commemorated in the new building. With a cottage eclectic feel, the new centre will provide 1500 square feet of welcoming space that will include a great room/sitting area, a dispensary, a private examination room, three camper care rooms and a camper bathroom. In addition, the new centre will include a private doctor's quarter to ensure our visiting health-care professionals are comfortable during their stay at our camp.

In memory of the camp's founder, the great room of The Gyori Health and Wellness Centre will encapsulate his legacy, with a wall of history in his honour. "Until his passing in 2010, Louis tirelessly dedicated himself to enriching the lives of every child and staff member at Camp Can-Aqua," says Andrew Martin, director of Camp Can-Aqua. "With a firm conviction in his dream and an utmost single-minded dedication to the youth, we are proud to be dedicating this new centre to our friend and mentor, Louis Gyori."

The Camp Can-Aqua approach to camping is truly unique. For over three decades, Camp Can-Aqua, located in Cardiff, has recognized the value of each individual child, embracing the power of the imagination. Based on the philosophy of Gyori, Camp Can-Aqua promotes the development of positive decision-making, self-discovery, and cooperation. Creating a world that is engaging, inclusive and full of wonder, campers are encouraged to take part in their own journey of discovery, developing a strong sense of belonging.

Every dollar received from the community will go toward making the Gyori Health and Wellness Centre the best it can be. To make a designated gift to the Gyori Health and Wellness Centre, please visit www.canaqua.ca/ today.

Time to buy your butterflies

Bereavement fundraiser includes early bird prizes this year

By Jenn Watt

On one special day in June, painted lady butterflies will fill the air by the Minden Hills Cultural Centre at the second Release of the Butterflies event.

Participants "buy" the orange butterflies for $30 apiece and set them free into the marshland as a fundraiser for the county's bereavement program, run by SIRCH Community Services.

"The bereavement program at SIRCH has no base funding," says Marilyn Rydberg, chairwoman of the butterfly release committee. "This is the fundraiser to keep this program going."

Last year's event raised about $15,000 for the program, which needs about $20,000 a year to provide bereavement groups to those in the county who are coping with the loss of a loved one.

In addition to donating to release a butterfly, this year the committee will be awarding three early bird prizes.

Bank of Montreal is giving a trip for four to the butterfly conservatory in Sudbury including a hotel stay in that city. Lynn Roberge at Mixed Media Arts has donated a concrete garden butterfly and Canadian Tire has donated a gift from its garden centre.

For each butterfly purchased, a ticket goes in the draw for the prizes.

Butterflies must be purchased by May 15. The early bird draw is May 18.

The painted lady butterflies are farmed at Butterflies and Roses in Lakefield and are a native species to our region. In fact, Rydberg says, it's common to see painted ladies in June in the Highlands.

Last year, more than 200 people attended the event.

"We were kind of overwhelmed at how successful it was," Rydberg says. There will also be activities for children, butterfly crafts and face painting.

The Release of the Butterflies takes place June 12 at the Minden Hills Cultural Centre. Butterflies are released at 1:30 p.m. It is $30 to buy one butterfly, $100 for four. Lunch is available at the event for purchase.

To order a butterfly, call SIRCH at 705-457-1742 or donate online at www.sirch.on.ca. You can also drop in at the office at 4663 County Road 21 near Haliburton.

Beware: telephone and email scams on the rise

Thousands of people lose money to telephone and email scams every year. A scam is defined as a fraudulent scheme performed by a dishonest individual, group, or company in an attempt to obtain money or something else of value. Often scams involve people impersonating friends or family and asking them for money to help with a serious situation, but they can also pose as an institution. As we approach tax season, the RCMP and Canadian Revenue Agency (CRA) have issued warnings about scams targeting taxpayers. Scammers impersonate CRA employees and tell taxpayers they either owe money or are eligible for a tax refund. You might be asked to give money, personal or financial information, and told you will be arrested or serve jail time if you refuse.

You must be vigilant about protecting your money, information and identity. Here are some tips on how to avoid fraud and what to do if you suspect you have been the target of a scam or identity theft.

The Competition Bureau's Golden Rules to Beat Scammers

■ Do Your Homework: Do not provide money or personal information, or sign anything without checking the credentials of the person or company you are dealing with.

■ Be Suspicious: Do not respond to any phone calls or emails asking for your address, Social Insurance Number, passport, health card, driver's licence, bank account or credit card numbers.

■ Seek Independent Advice: Before agreeing to an offer or making a decision on the phone or over email, take the time to get independent advice.

■ DO NOT Click The Link! Log on to a website directly rather than clicking the links contained in e-mails.

■ Take Your Time: There are no guaranteed get-rich-quick schemes.

■ Screen Your Calls: Register on the National Do Not Call List. This federal service reduces the number of telemarketing calls you receive by restricting access to your phone number. For more information call 1-800-580-3625 or visit <https://www.lnntedncl.gc.ca/>.

If You Have Been Scammed

■ Stop! Refrain from further communication with the potential scammer and gather any records you have of the fraud or scam (letters, e-mails, texts).

■ Cancel: Cancel any missing or stolen identification.

■ Report: Call your local police as soon as possible and then ask for a copy of the police report. Contact your financial institutions or wire transfer company (i.e. Western Union) and provide them with the police report and details of the incident.

■ Review: Check financial statements as soon as possible and immediately report any errors to your financial institution.

■ Contact: Contact credit reporting agencies (e.g. Equifax and TransUnion) and ask them for a copy of your credit report. If you request a free copy of your report they have to send you one in the mail.

■ Change: Change passwords and PINs on any affected accounts. Check your privacy settings on social media accounts.

■ Trust Your Instincts: If it seems too good to be true, it usually is!

New online chat for survivors of sexual violence

In response to the Peterborough City and County needs assessment addressing access to services in the prevention of and response to sexual violence against women and girls published in Fall 2015, the Kawartha Sexual Assault Centre has launched a new interactive website, including an online chat.

This new website supports survivors, families and youth in learning more about the issue of sexual violence and harassment. The site offers information on how to access services, a YouTube channel with educational videos, opportunities for youth to gain volunteer hours, and a new online chat to compliment the Centre's 24 hour-seven day a week crisis support phone line.

"In the wake of health and physical education curriculum changes and the launch of the Ontario government's Sexual Violence and Harassment Action Plan," says Sonya Vellenga, executive director of the centre, "Parents and teachers have questions about how to talk with youth. Survivors want to ask questions about their experiences and receive support for referrals in a confidential setting. People living rurally in Peterborough, Northumberland, Haliburton and City of Kawartha Lakes need online options for reaching out for healing support."

The centre is one of only a few in the province currently featuring an online chatting feature. The new chat line will be open on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. at www.kawarthasexual-assaultcentre.com. The chat works on smartphones, tablets and computers. Options for opening up additional chat times will be dependent on demand for this new service. The centre's 24/7 crisis support line will remain open at all times at 1-866-298-7778.

Cottage Hill Furniture & Cabinets Inc.

When mass produced pieces of furniture and run of the mill kitchen and cabinetry designs won't do, it's time to visit Cottage Hill Furniture & Cabinets.

"We help people realize ideas," says Co-owner Patti Ewaschuk. "We specialize in creative solutions for your home or cottage. We work with you to create custom-designed and hand built storage units, furniture, Murphy beds, and kitchens – anything in wood."

Patti says Co-owner and husband Willy's artistry, craftsmanship and creativity resonate throughout the business. Willy has been a cabinetmaker and woodworker for more than 50 years and is also a graduate of the Ontario College of Art and Design.

To get a sense of his skill and passion for quality Patti advises clients to visit Willy's 2200 square foot shop at 4025 Loop Road in Harcourt (by appointment) or the show room she runs at 165 Highland Street in the Village of Haliburton.

At either location you'll marvel at beautiful products that were 100% custom-made in Haliburton County with a high degree of quality and craftsmanship rarely seen today.

Patti and Willy pride themselves in providing personalized design solutions and will even visit your site to ensure the product is a perfect fit for your space.

"We're here to make our customer's life easier," she said.

The shop, which has been in business for 11 years, has created works and completed projects for homes and businesses all over southern Ontario.

"We do everything from cutting boards to entire kitchens," she said. "Willy works with any wood from pine to exotic imports."

There's no question about customer satisfaction either.

"We have several repeat customers," she said. "In fact we joke that we could use any one of their homes as a showroom."

Words like these, however, cannot truly convey the wonderful sense of proportion and design inherent in everything Willy and his staff of three woodworkers create.

To see that, you really need to spend time exploring the Cottage Hill Furniture & Cabinet Facebook page at www.facebook.com/CottageHillFurniture or their website at www.cottagehill.ca. Or better yet, visit Patti or Willy in person and let them know how they can help you.

Can acupuncture help my pet?

At Minden Animal Hospital, we are pleased to be offering acupuncture in conjunction with or as an alternative to other medications and therapies. We would like to take this opportunity to explain more about it and what you can expect during an appointment.

Dr. Morrow has received extensive training through the International Veterinary Acupuncture Society.

There is a misconception that acupuncture is "trendy" or modern, but in fact it's a practice that has been in existence for over 2000 years. Acupuncture is the process of inserting very small needles into specific points on the body, along channels called meridians. These points can be stimulated or suppressed to get a desired effect. How does acupuncture create this effect? There has been a lot of research done and we are still learning much about how acupuncture actually works, however, there is currently evidence that it can re-direct blood flow towards or away from organs, muscles and tissues, it modulates pain sensation and can alter hormonal and immune responses. It is quite amazing the diversity of conditions that can be treated, most people are aware of its effects on arthritis, however, it can also have a lot of benefits with promoting self-healing, reducing inflammation, regulating organ function and pain relief.

Some commonly asked questions include: is it painful? Will my pet stay still? How long do the needles have to be in? How many treatments will they need?

Are there any side-effects? Acupuncture uses very small needles, much smaller than we use for vaccinations. Often times pets do not feel any discomfort, although pets (and people!) are a bit more sensitive around the extremities (hands/wrists and feet/ankles). Pets are surprisingly cooperative during the procedure. We start by having them stand, insert the needles and then the needles often remain in for 15 to 30 minutes. During this time the pet can be laying comfortably. The frequency and number of treatments depends on the underlying condition. Typically most patients would benefit from five-10 treatments at weekly to bi-weekly intervals. It is common to see some response after the first or second treatment. One of the great things about acupuncture is that it can be used while your pet is on medications without the risk of interactions. If your pet doesn't tolerate medications well, acupuncture is a great alternative. It is not uncommon for pets to be sleepy for one to two days after the procedure. Acupuncture is safe, effective and minimally invasive.

What can you expect when you bring your pet in for an acupuncture treatment? The first appointment is usually about an hour. A lot of this time is spent getting a thorough history and asking very detailed questions about your pet, their condition and their behaviour/preferences. These questions are a lot more detailed than our typical "western" history and include asking about whether they prefer hot or cold temperatures, are they more active in the morning or the evening. These may seem obscure, but they all help lead to an eastern medicine diagnosis and creating an effective treatment plan. Subsequent appointments will not be as long as we are just fine-tuning any changes noted, though the points used at each appointment may differ.

I hope this has opened your eyes to this wonderful service that we can offer for your pet. Please call us with any further questions or to set up your appointment today!

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
